Palaiseau, France, 20th January 2009 – Rhapso new Web Site is going live. After the 2008 acquisition of Graphisoft, Rhapso designed a new graphic charter in order to bundle its full range of software. Today Rhapso centralizes on a brand-new site the all its activities dedicated to the Packaging as well as the Graphic Arts Industries. More than a simple storefront, it supports interactive communications with visitors.

Customers and Certified Distributors access a private area with dedicated resources: FAQ, user guides, training contents, certification programs, download hub... Prospective customers get flash demonstrations, available both in English and Spanish, allowing them to understand how the software meet their requirements.
